NEWS OF THE DAY.

The First Annual Message of President Arthur.

Two Hours' Time Occupied in Its Delivery to Congress.

Commencement of the Fight for the Admission of Dakota as a State.

Announcement of the Death of Major General Kilpatrick, Our Minister to Chili.

Captain John Roberts, of Racine, Suicides by Cutting His Neck with a Pocket-Knife.

Other Interesting State and Miscellaneous News Items.

THE MESSAGE.

WASHINGTON, December 6.—The President's message occupied more than two hours in the reading, and is much longer and cumbersome than was at first supposed it would be. The following are the chief points of the message:

He makes a graceful and appropriate reference to his illustrious predecessor and to the action of the governments of other nations concerning his death. Following this he devotes more than a column of this paper to a summary of our relations with foreign governments, all of which are of the most amicable character. That part of this review relating to Mexico, Chili, Peru, and Bolivia indicates that this government will employ its best efforts to establish peace and promote friendly relations with all these peoples. He reaffirms the policy of this government announced by Mr. Blaine, that the United States must continue to assert its guarantees to the Republic of Colombia.

He approves of the recommendations of the Secretary of the Treasury that the law authorizing silver certificates to be issued to depositors of silver be repealed, on the ground that they are unnecessary because the National banks can furnish all the currency needed; and he advises that the coinage of silver dollars be limited to the discretion of the Treasury Department. It is not likely that either of these recommendations will meet the approval of the country; the American people are not likely to forgo a currency redeemable on demand in coin for the purpose of enabling private banking corporations to issue their notes, not redeemable in coin, to increase their circulation.

He indorses the recommendation of General Sherman for an increase in the army, and also the recommendation for an increase and reorganization of the navy.

To his great credit, the President thinks that the Government should now begin the policy of giving National aid to education by setting apart a fund to be employed by the States for educational purposes.

He enumerates the recommendations of the postmaster-general, and tacitly approves them, and announces that he has given instructions for the proper prosecution of all persons guilty of fraud in the matter of star-route postal service. He urges generally that relief be given to the overburdened supreme court, and suggests that much of the business transferred to the Federal courts because of the war, might now be restored to the State courts.

He indorses at considerable length measures for the solution of the Indian problem, including an abandonment of the recognition of the Indians as tribes, the extension of the laws of the States and Territories in which the Indians are located, and the allotment of land to the Indians in severality, and a liberal provision for the education of Indian children.

He repeats the difficulties which stand in the way of the legal suppression of polygamy, and suggests various amendments to the law requiring registration of marriage and allowing wives to give evidence against their husbands.

He calls attention to the recent legislation granting arrearages of pensions. Two hundred and fifty million dollars will be required to make the first payment to those likely to be added to the rolls, and he hopes that this enormous expenditure will be a warning to Congress against careless action on any similar scheme proposed hereafter.

He laments the decline of American shipping, but makes no suggestion as to what ought to be done; he also regrets that John Roach's subsidized line to Brazil has been abandoned, but omits any recommendation concerning it. He favors an appropriation for the improvement of the Mississippi river.

He devotes considerable space to the discussion of civil-service reform, and to the various plans proposed on that subject. He states the reasons favoring and the objections to all these plans, and while proposing that whatever reform may be adopted ought to be gradual, he promises to approve and cordially execute any law Congress may enact on the subject.

He commends various schemes for the improvement of the river and the sanitary condition of Washington City.

He calls upon Congress to provide without delay such legislation as may prevent all controversy hereafter concerning the counting of electoral votes at Presidential elections.

He also calls attention to the questions presented during the illness of the late President as to what constitutes the "inability" of the President, and earnestly appeals to Congress to define particularly the meaning of that clause of the constitution.

KILLED BY A BRIDGE.

MENOMONEE, December 6—The wagon bridge across the Red Cedar at Cedar Falls, in course of completion, was struck by a gale to-day and a section blown over. John Hutchinson was killed and several wounded. Rundel, of Eau Claire, (contractor) was badly hurt.

KILPATRICK DEAD.

WASHINGTON, Dec 6—Information has been received here of the death of General Hugh Judson Kilpatrick, Minister to Chili. He died at Santiago, Chili, on Sunday last,

STILL IN THE DARK.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Speaker Keifer told a reporter to-night that he had begun to collect information and data for the formation of committees, but had only just begun, and that neither himself nor any living man could say who would get the various chairmanships.

A NEW STATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 6.—It is evident that the Republicans are determined to push the matter of the admission of Southern Dakota into the Union. Senators Windom and Saunders have introduced bills for this purpose, both being substantially the same, except that Saunders proposes to name that part of Dakota left as a Territory Pembina, and Windom proposes to name it Northern Dakota. Saunders is chairman of the committee on Territories, and all bills of this character will go into his hands. The Democrats intend to fight the measure, and the chances are that its fate in the Senate will depend upon the view David Davis takes of the question.

Death to rats and vermin, Parsons' Exterminator.

SUICIDE.

MILWAUKEE, Dec 6.—Captain John Roberts, of Racine, a prominent citizen, and master of the schooner Starlight, committed suicide by stabbing himself in the neck with a pocket-knife.

One Experience from Many.

"I had been sick and miserable so long, and had caused my husband so much trouble and expense, no one seemed to know what ailed me, that I was completely dishe artened and discouraged. In this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me they said 'Hurrah for Hop Bitters! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy.'"—The mother.

THE BLANK CASE.

The trial of Fred Blank for the murder of Maria Walrath continues in the Circuit court. After Dr. Lord had testified to the nature of the fatal injuries, Mrs. John Crall was called. She was among those who cared for the injured woman. Mary Litney and John Litney were also at the Walrath house after the tragedy. Thomas Flaherty testified to a conversation had with Blank the evening following the fight, in which Blank admitted that he had struck her harder than he ought, but that he didn't care if he had, if she didn't die. John McGiffin testified to about the same conversation. Fred Kramer and his sister Mary Kramer, were accidentally witnesses to the first fight between Mrs. Walrath and Blank, and testified as to her striking at him, and he throwing a stone at her, and afterwards striking her.

The State rested and the defense called Mrs. Hallett, who testified that she stood near Blank's house when Mrs. Walrath fired, and that she was struck by one of the shot. Mr. Wagner, J. Hurd and Christopher Kramer testified to Blank's reputation as a peaceable man.

Fred Blank, the prisoner, was put upon the stand, and his narration was about the same as that given on the examination. After Mrs. Walrath had fired twice at his house, he went across the street, and wrested the gun away from her and her son, and in the scuffle the gun barrel was swung around hitting Mrs. Walrath the fatal blow. He appeared very calm, and answered all questions in the same stoical manner which characterizes all of his actions.

Mr. Johnson, of Indian Ford, testified to Blank's good character.

Sheriff Skavlem testified to seeing the shot-marks in the front of Blank's house, as did also J. B. Doe, Jr.

This closed the evidence, and District Attorney Sale opened the arguments, which will occupy the rest of the day at least.

DR. VINCENT'S LECTURE.

This evening Rev. D. H. Vincent, is to lecture in the First Methodist church on "That Boy."

Dr. Dio Lewis says of this lecture heard by him at Oakland Cal: "It was a great surprise to me. I have heard all the distinguished lecturers for thirty years, but I never heard a lecture containing so much humor, sense and heart as this one. It is wonderfully funny, and yet that word don't hit exactly. It is extremely brilliant, but that is not the word. It contains the sense of a hundred ordinary lectures, but not one of his hearers last night would be satisfied with this praise. It was crowded with the yearnings, and pity and tears, and Christ love of the father and the man."

THE rhinoceros can only see what is nearly in a direct line before him.

THE canons of South Utah abound in Aztec picture-writing of a curious and remarkable character.

THE game of backgammon is the oldest we know of, and was common 1,000 years before Christ's time.

A TREE bearing thirty bushels of apples is really sustaining half a ton of water, for water constitutes about 85 per cent. of apples.

THE herring will travel for weeks at the rate of sixteen miles an hour, without resting. The salmon outstrips the swallow in speed, and the shark outtravels the eagle.

KOLDEN says that when the lion comes up to his prey he always knocks it down dead, and seldom bites it till the mortal blow has been given. This blow is generally accompanied with a tremendous roar.

THE number of spoken languages in India is said to be 243, and including dialects 549. Translations of the Bible, or part of it, exist in about seventy or eighty of these languages and dialects, but those who have a Christian literature are much fewer.

SOME species of fish, such as the hag, have the power of exuding from their bodies a certain excrement, which, mixing with the water about them, renders them invisible to their foes. Other species have the power of emitting sudden flashes of light, which are supposed to frighten their enemies, and, perhaps, to dazzle their appointed prey. Still others have long snouts, like the barrel of a gun, through which they shoot fatal drops of liquid, seldom missing their game.

WHEN a young child or infant of the lower order in Chili dies, the baby, after being cleansed, is arrayed in the finest garments, and placed upon an altar in the best room in the house; a pair of wings are fastened to it, and a crown upon its head; above is hung a dove, and the entire surroundings adorned with flowers and ribbons. A guitarist is provided, who, from his seat in front, chants and sings airs, generally of a laudatory and lamenting nature, for the loss of the child; but, as the poucha or drink begins to make itself felt upon the friends who have gathered around, it then becomes a scene of mirth and gladness that the child is now an "angelito" (or little angel). This generally continues for several days, until the body gives forth anything but pleasant odors.

WITHIN a very near approach to truth, the human family inhabiting the earth has been estimated at 1,000,000,000; the annual loss by death is 18,000,000. Now, the weight of the animal matter of this immense body cast into the grave is no less than 634,000 tons, and its decomposition produces 9,000,000,000,000 cubic feet of matter. The vegetable productions of the earth clear away from the earth the gases thus generated, and decomposing and assimilating them for their own increase. This circle of changes has been going on ever since man became an occupier of the earth. He feeds on the lower animals and on the seeds of plants, which, in due time, become a part of himself. The lower animals feed upon the herbs and grasses, which, in their turn, become the animal; then, by its death, again pass into the atmosphere, and are ready once more to be assimilated by plants. The earth or bone substance alone remaining where it is deposited, and not even there unless prosecuted as a common swindler.

THE metric system of weights and measures is advancing in the United States. It was legalized here in 1866, and has now been made obligatory by the Marine Hospital Service and the United States Coast Survey. The Boards of Education of several States have introduced it in the public schools, while a knowledge of it is required for admission to most of our colleges. The multiplicity of measures in continental Europe—an outgrowth of the feudal system—was long a barrier to commercial intercourse. Until recently there were more than 100 measures there bearing the name of foot, no two of which were alike.

"HENRY is so practical!" said Mrs. Youngwife. "When mother went into the country last year he sent all her things after her the very next day; he said she might want some of them, you know. And it's kind o' funny," she went on, "mother did want them, for she has never come back to live with us since. Wasn't it queer?"—Graphic.

DR. PRICE'S REPUTATION

Has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

My practice, not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic Diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for yourselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. Visits made regularly.

The Pasha's Harem, Tangier.

We had brought an interpreter, and knowing that European ladies were sometimes allowed to visit the harem of his eminence, we commissioned our man of words to request this favor. The Pasha, a handsome man of apparently sixty years of age, stepped from an arched door-way, and, with many a flirt and flutter of his voluminous muslin draperies, seated himself on the rug-covered divan at the upper end of the apartment. We rose and made a salam respectfully, and Antonio, our courier, made known our petition, adorning it with many flowers of his imagination. The distinguished guests before him, he informed the Pasha, were of the highest nobility of America, intimate friends of Generals Grant and and Washington—the only two Americans, doubtless, with whose names the Pasha was familiar. Our request was granted, and the lady friend of Washington was led away by a diminutive Nubian in the direction of the seraglio. I entered a beautiful court, surrounded by porticoes supported by antique pillars dug from Roman ruins, and used in the construction of this palace just as the Cordovan Moors utilized the columns of the Cæsars in their mosque. * * * A fountain occupied the center of the tile-paved court, an old woman was praying devoutly upon a rug beside it, while, from an alcove across the court, issued the musical voices of the ladies of the Pasha. Elegantly dressed in Eastern fashion, in purple, green and gold vests, brocade caftans and variegated scarfs, with silk kerchiefs knotted about their black braids, they were seated upon a raised divan and engaged in sifting corn-meal, which lay piled in golden drifts upon a sheet stretched across the floor. They received me cordially, a slave bringing a European chair for me to sit upon. Our medium of conversation was a little broken Spanish and a copious use of the sign-language. A beautiful little boy of three came and regarded me wonderingly. His head was shaved, with the exception of a spot behind one ear, from which depended a single curl—the lock of youth of Egypt; to keep the equilibrium, two large hoop ear-rings, adorned with a single turquoise, were inserted in the opposite ear. His name, they told me, was Selim. He received a coin with sublime indifference, and continued his inspection of the strange lady's costume. The Pasha's harem consisted of ladies of varying ages. Here were wrinkled crones—his matrimonial outfit at the beginning of his uxorious career—comfortable women in the prime of life, devoted to smoke and sweetmeats, and the odalisque of sixteen, already two years a wife. They pitied the lonely life in a "harem of one," and felt a strong sympathy for the poor American wives, with no sister favorites to share their solitude and aid them about their household affairs. In this princely house, where there was food and finery enough for all, the bevy of wives seemed to live together with a merry good-fellowship, but we heard of poorer families where the state of affairs was not so paradisaical. On the occasion of a new addition to the seraglio, the elder wives are stripped of their jewelry to bedeck the bride, and loud is the cry of lamentation—Badoura bewailing her bangles, and Zumroud weeping for her anklets. One of the favorites took me by the hand, and led me over the building—to the Pasha's own apartment, sumptuous with decorated ceiling and rich carpets, to their own plainer rooms, and to the neglected garden, where my guide filled my hands with flowers from the tangled bushes which had covered the walks, and where the bees found the honey with which they had filled the hollow capitals of some carved columns of the arcade. On biding adieu to the ladies, they exorted themselves with one accord to prevent my departure; the chair was brought forward, I was pushed toward it with gentle insistence, and had quite to tear myself away. As I crossed the pavement, their intention was explained by the appearance of a Nubian, who dartad before me clashing together a pair of tiny coffee-cups, decorated with red-and-golden arabesque ornamentation, which gave them a resemblance to Kaga ware. A delicious odor of coffee aided the explanation; they wished me to remain and partake of refreshments. Not wishing to keep the party in the Hall of Judgment longer waiting, and hardly knowing whether it would be etiquette, as it would certainly not be kindness, to eat and drink in their presence during their time of fasting, I declined their courtesy and took my leave.—Miss Lizzie W. Champney, in Century Magazine.

A Century's Change.

The orators and poets of the celebration at Yorktown overlooked one of the pleasantest as well as one of the most fitting thoughts on that occasion.

Looking over the annals of a hundred years ago, it is striking how the royal character of the assistance given by France to our struggling arms is kept in the foreground by our ancestry, thus taking their first lessons in republicanism. Everywhere the foremost thanks and praises are for King Louis. It has been said that France demanded the treaty of alliance from "an indifferent King and a reluctant Ministry;" but none the less through our historic records of this period sound above all others the glorifications of "his most Christian Majesty."

When, on the memorable 14th of October, 1781, at Yorktown, the regiments of Gatinois and Deux Ponts, winning over the German sentries, stormed the main advanced British redoubt, leaping the parapet, and carrying it against a deadly fire, Count Guillaume de Deux Ponts raised the cry of "Vive le roi!" and it was with this shout through the French column that the victory was won. Louis XVI., as a mark of honor for the regiment Gatinois, named it the "Royal Auvergne." When Washington issued, on the day after the surrender, his general order announcing the result, he began it as follows:

"The General congratulates the army upon the glorious events of yesterday. The generous proofs which his most Christian Majesty has given of his attachment to the cause of America must force conviction on the minds of the most deceived among the enemy relative to the good consequences of the alliance, and inspire every citizen of these States with sentiments of the most unalterable gratitude. His fleets, the most numerous and powerful that ever appeared in these seas, etc."

Congress, on receiving news of the great victory, resolved to set up a monument on the battle-field—neglecting it, however, for generations, so that we are now to build it—on which should be inscribed our obligations to his most Christian Majesty; and accordingly among the inscriptions prepared will be one following the admonition of Congress to do justice to King Louis.

Of course a part of this ascription of praise to the French King was formal and representative—a convenient form of phrase. At all events, even that typical and formal method of speech has vanished now. No photographs of Louis XVI. were hawked about by the Yorktown darkies last week. No odes praised his puissant sword. France was the one word that told all, in the ascriptions of honor, and it was to France that the expressions of National gratitude were uttered.

Surely the central congratulation for our brethren across the sea is that republican France has celebrated the centenary of Yorktown with republican America. Our generous ally of an elder day has, in the fullness of time, herself reaped her share from the seed she sowed with our ancestors. The happy reflection for Americans is that it was the two greatest republics of the world that exchanged, on last week's field, the memories of an alliance whose far-reaching results the French throne, in making it, little dreamed of.—N. Y. Sun.

The Mother's Leisure Hour.

Home has been called woman's kingdom and fitly so, because within its walls she who is wife, mother, daughter, or sister, holds the scepter. "The many make the household, but only one the home," says a poet, and in a sense his words are true, for in every home the house-mother is the one who gives the tone to the family. The family life seldom rises higher than the mother's ideal will let it rise. Whatever is her predominant aim, the ultimate desire of her heart is revealed in her sons and daughters. If she is selfish, frivolous and full of worldly ambition, her children are in a fair way to become the same. If she is cheery, earnest and consecrated in her purpose to live the best and highest life possible to a Christian woman, her children usually follow in her steps.

Few leisure hours are possessed by mothers with their little ones around them. The days are crowded with cares. The cooking, the sewing, the tying of strings and fastening of buttons, the training of children, the hearing of lessons, the many, many things which make very little show but consume a great deal of time, fill up a mother's day so that her resting spell seldom arrives till evening. Then, when the older boys and girls are busy with their maps and slates, when father is indulging himself with the paper or a favorite book, when the little ones have said their prayers and the baby has gone to sleep, the mother feels that she has earned the right to a little bit of recess. She is wise if she takes it. Far too often she seizes upon that hour, instead, to finish Susie's new frock, or patch Tommy's trousers; to put new wristbands on father's shirt or a patch on the old table-cloth. She works on with nervous energy, when she ought to be reading an entertaining story, or listening to her daughter's music, or playing an air or two herself. She reluctantly lays aside her basket and needle when the clock strikes eleven, and drags herself wearily to bed. This is poor economy. We would persuade, if we could, all the mothers who read this paper to take the leisure hour or half-hour whenever they can, even though they let something else go. It will be better for their families and themselves in the coming days, when the children shall be grown up, and even more than at present their mother shall be their guide, companion and friend.—Christian at Work.

Brain Development.

It is not surprising to find the unlearned in things medical unable to understand that brain development, which of course is generally a matter of heredity, determines character. Such, however, is, and must needs be, the fact. Whether the mind is something outside matter which acts through or by the brain, as a musician may use a musical instrument, or whether, as some think, what we call mind is simply brain function, it should be manifested on consideration that upon the quality and conformation of a man's brain must depend his mental capacity; and consequently, also, his characteristics both intellectual and moral. We are not disposed to urge specialties of development as excuses for conduct because, given an average degree of intelligence and fairly strong will power, the individual is clearly responsible for his action; but it must not be forgotten that his instincts of right or wrong, and the faculty of judgment with which he distinguishes between good and evil, will be acute or dull in proportion as his brain is developed.

The mind is in a large sense the character of the man, and as directly dependent on the physical growth of the brain as the speed of a race horse is dependent on its muscular development. This is not sufficiently recognized, and because it is not we every now and then find silly remarks in print such as the following: "The convolutions of the brain may have something to do with the difference between mediocrity and genius, but at present they are not recognized in the law courts, and it is difficult to see how they can be;" with such weak and wide moral reflections as that "it would be scarcely satisfactory to a pickpocket to have his brain examined, in order to prove to those he left behind that he really could not help being a thief!" And yet the facts are sufficiently plain and simple, so plain and simple that any one should be able to understand them.—London Lancet.

—In trying to answer the question how to measure hay in a mow, the Country Gentleman says: Four hundred cubic feet of hard-packed, clear timothy hay will weigh a ton; so will 500 cubic feet of mixed clover and timothy hard-packed. Clover alone requires 600 to 700 cubic feet for a ton, and common mixed meadow hay, including a large proportion of red-top and June grass, will require 700 to 800 feet. The weight depends somewhat upon the ripeness of the hay; ripe hay is heavier than that made from early-cut grass. No rule can therefore be given that will give accurately correct results; but the general rule is: Multiply the length in yards by the height in yards and the product by the width in yards and divide the product by 15; the quotient will be approximately the number of tons.

—A Walton County (Ga.) farmer cut off his old watermelon vines about six inches from roots, plowed and hoed the old stubs, and now has a finer lot of melons than were produced in the first crop.

—A cigar-dealer in Stockton, Cal., has a pet tarantula which he has kept for three years. When it stretches out it is at least eight inches in circumference.

THERE IS MORE STRENGTH restoring power in a 50 cent bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic than in a bushel of malt or a gallon of milk. As an appetizer, blood purifier and kidney corrector, there is nothing like it, and invalids find it a wonderful invigorant for mind and body. See other column.

A valuable Discovery and New Departure in Medical Science, an entirely New and positively effective Remedy for the speedy and permanent Cure of Seminal Emissions and Impotency by the only true way, viz: Direct Application to the principal Seat of the Disease, acting by Absorption, and exerting its specific influence on the Seminal Vesicles, Ejaculatory Ducts, Prostate Gland, and Urethra. The use of the Remedy is attended with no pain or inconvenience, and does not interfere with the ordinary pursuits of life; it is quickly dissolved and soon absorbed, producing an immediate soothing and restorative effect upon the sexual and nervous organizations wrecked from self-abuse and excesses, stopping the drain from the system, restoring the mind to health and sound memory, removing the Dimness of Sight, Nervous Debility, Confusion of Ideas, Aversion to Society, etc., etc., and the appearance of premature old age usually accompanying this trouble, and restoring perfect Sexual Vigor, where it has been dormant for years. This mode of treatment has stood the test in very severe cases, and is now pronounced successful. Druggists too much proscribed in these troubles, and, as many can bear witness to, with but little if any permanent good. There is no Nonsense about this Preparation. Practical observation enables us to positively guarantee that it will give satisfaction. During the eight years that it has been in general use, we have thousands of testimonials as to its value, and it is now conceded by the Medical Profession to be the most radical means yet discovered of reaching and curing this very prevalent trouble, that is well known to be the cause of untold misery to so many, and upon whom quacks prey with their nauseous nostrums and big fees. The Remedy is put up in neat boxes, of three sizes. No. 1, (sufficient to last a month,) $3; No. 2, (sufficient to effect a permanent cure, unless in severe cases,) $5; No. 3, (lasting over three months, will stop nocturnal emissions, restore vigor in the worst cases,) $7. Sent by mail sealed, in plain wrappers. Full DIRECTIONS in using will accompany EACH BOX.

Send for Sealed Descriptive Pamphlet, giving Anatomical Illustrations and Testimony, which will convince the most skeptical of every one restored to perfect manhood, and fitted for the duties of life, same as if never affected. Sold ONLY by

H. A. PATTERSON, P. M.

FAIRFIELD.

—There was a wedding at the residence of W. H. Williams, last Thursday evening, December 1st, the parties forming the happy union being Mr. John McFarlane, of Richmond, and Miss Dora E. Williams. Rev. Mr. Potter, of Allen's Grove, officiated. Quite a number of guests were present, from whom the worthy couple received a handsome list of presents. They have a host of friends who offer sincere congratulations.

—C. C. Collier, of Knox, Indiana, went home this week. He has made many friends among the young people, during his stay here, and will be greatly missed.

—Bert Welch is teaching in district No. 1, Bradford. Mr. Welch was a student at Milton college several years, and in addition to a good education he has a natural aptitude for the work, without which it is impossible to succeed.

—W. R Dodge has his new barn completed, the workmen finishing last Friday. The building is 34x50 feet, with 14 feet addition on one side, in which are stanchions for 17 head of cattle. There is room for a large quantity of hay, and a fork will be put in to facilitate handling.

—The village school house has been undergoing repairs. A building for holding wood is added, and a high fence put up as a protection from the wind.

—The Sunday school concert held in the church last Sunday evening, December 4, drew well, and the house was comfortably filled, many coming from a distance. The entertainment was a pleasing one, and at the close, Rev. James Richardson presented some happy thoughts which were well received.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

The following statement of William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876, I was taken with a VIOLENT BLEEDING OF THE LUNGS, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when, to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

"I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced take DR WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles, and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared, and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold by druggists. 1

JOHNSTOWN.

—Mr. F. D. McIntyre had the misfortune to sprain or fracture his ankle a few days ago, which has been very painful, besides the inconvenience of being confined to the house.

—Schools in this locality are in full blast. C. S. Groesbeck and daughter have charge of the one at the Center, and Della A. Welton is teaching in the old town district.

—The cheese has been removed from the factory and placed in the cellars of private houses for safe keeping until satisfactory sale can be made.

—A large amount of plowing has been done the past fall. Some were finishing up the odd patches last week. Corn husking is nearly all done, and farmers are mostly ready for winter, with the exception of some few who never get ready, and never would, should fall continue until spring.

—Those having tobacco for sale are feeling jubilant over the prospect of good prices.

—The sociable held at the residence of H. A. Stone, last Friday night, was quite well attended, and a good time is reported. The next will be held at the home of A. A. Keith, next week, Friday night. Don't forget to go, as a good time is guaranteed.

—There is some talk of a Christmas tree at the Congregational church. The matter will be considered next Sabbath after service. Let there be a full attendance of all interested.

—William Bowers, the butcher, continues to supply meat to all that desire.

—We understand the Center is to have a Christmas tree. Why not have one in this place, there are plenty that would be glad to pluck the fruit?

—William Hamilton recently sold 26 fine hogs to Mr. Miles, of Janesville. Who says hogs don't pay at from $5.75 to $6.00 per hundred, and quite a good many have sold at still higher figures.

Can Catarrh be cured? Yes, certainly. "Dr. Sykes Sure Cure" will cure it.

JOHNSTOWN CENTER.

—School opened Monday morning, C. S. Groesbeck principal and Miss E. M. Groesbeck assistant.

—The school house has been much improved by a good coat of paint inside and out.

—The county building for the insane is progressing slowly.

—Mr. Morse has sold his farm at Monroe.

—Some of the solid men of the community entered the church on Saturday evening, not long ago, and the next day the people were very much surprised as well as pleased to see a beautiful new desk in place of the shabby one that had done duty so long. The thanks of the community are due them

—Mr. A. Gifford, of Milton, has organized a singing class to commence on Wednesday evening.

—An oyster supper is on foot for next Tuesday evening for the benefit of the church.

—The Johnstown Teachers' Association meets on Friday evening of this week to arrange a programme and work for the winter. All teachers in the vicinity, and any one interested in educational matters, are earnestly requested to be present.

At the Teachers' Institute held at Clinton this fall it was voted to organize a "Teachers' Library Association," and a committee was accordingly appointed to prepare a constitution, and organize the association. This committee met at Janesville on Saturday last, and a constitution and by-laws were adopted, the association being designated "The Rock County Teachers Library Association." The following named persons were elected officers for the year with the exception of the President, Superintendent Wm. Jones, who is President, ex officio, Vice-President, O. W. Jack of Beloit; Secretary and Treasurer, C. S. Groesbeck, Johnstown Center; Librarian, Mrs. O. C. Carpenter, of Janesville. Those present subscribed to the organization and paid their membership fee, which was fixed at $1, with semi-annual dues of 50 cents per member. All teachers of the county and city are cordially invited to co-operate in the matter. All communications addressed to the secretary at Johnstown Center, will receive prompt attention.

C. S. GROESBECK,
Secretary.

MILTON.

—The child of James Dunn and wife, of Madison, who came here last week to attend the funeral of L. J. Plumb, died, on Monday, of croup. They have the sympathy of their many friends here.

—W. L. Ferris took the night train for St. Paul, where he will spend the winter in the employ of a railroad company. We all hope to see him back in the spring and hope he may have a pleasant time this winter.

—Men in the employ of John Griffith, of Janesville, came here Monday to rebuild Pollay's meat market. The building will be much more convenient and pleasant when the rebuilding is finished.

—The Borden house had more customers than they could accommodate from the Monroe express Monday evening.

FULTON.

—Everybody is busy stripping their tobacco.

—Mrs. Howard Lee has been on the sick list for a few days with a slight attack of diphtheria, but is much better.

—Ans. Courtwright has left for parts unknown. Any information of his whereabouts will greatly oblige his wife and family.

—Mrs. Eph Sayre lost a fine brood mare last week.

—Alex White and F. G. Green, have erected windmills on their farms.

—H. W. Lee leaves for Milwaukee this week to buy holiday goods.

EMERALD GROVE.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Cummings returned from their visit to Evanston, Ill., on Tuesday last, also Mr. and Mrs. R. Cheney, from Bloomington, Missouri on Friday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Holton, after a year's sojourn in Vermont, have returned to make their permanent home at Emerald Grove. They will reside in the house recently occupied by C. D. Mathews.

—C. W. Boynton was chosen delegate, and R. Cheney Mr. and Mrs. J. Cummings honorary delegates to the District Canvention, (Congregational) to meet in Janesville next week.

—C. H. Stollen is still confined to his house by illness. His many friends hope he may speedily recover.

—The ladies of the Congregational society, will give a necktie social, and a New England supper at the parsonage, on Thursday afternoon and evening Dec. 22nd.

—Will Chesebro made a brief visit at his parents.

—Christmas tree at the M. E. church this year.

—Miss M. A. Cuckow is visiting in Chicago.

—Enough names have been secured to make the proposed singing school a success.

—W. W. Squire and family attended the funeral of Elijah Hyatt, in Fulton. Mr. Hyatt is a brother of Mrs. Squire.

—Henry Munger, of Dakota, brother of A. C. Munger, was here on a visit; also Levi Munger, of Palmyra. Mrs. Ritchpaw, Mrs. Munger's mother, at last accounts was very low.

When you have had Catarrh long enough, send 10c. to Dr. C. R. Sykes, 169 Madison St., Chicago, for his "True Theory of Catarrh."

The Wrong Ashes.

(San Francisco Post.)

He was a jolly-looking man, with a round corporation, a Burgundy-tinted nose and the general exterior of a contented mind, and as he entered the editorial den he offered us a good cigar, lit another and said:

"How about this local cremation scheme?"

"Well how yourself?"

"The fact is," said the stranger, reflectively, "I had a pretty tough experience with one of these cadaver roasting concerns once, and I thought mebbe you would like to make an item of the facts so as to warn people here in time."

"Fire away."

"Well, you see, it was in New Orleans. My wife died there, and as a cremation company was having a good deal of a boom there just then, she made me promise to have her spirit sent up through their flue, as it were. Said she thought it would be nice and melancholy for me to carry her ashes around with me wherever I went—in a vase, you understand."

"And you complied?"

"Why yes. It was her last wish, you know, and besides I thought it might be useful in kinder preparing her for the here— but never mind that now. I sent the remains round to the companys office in a push cart, got a receipt, saw Varia touched off so to speak and two days after that they returned to me a beautiful majolica jar full of ashes, scented with forget-me-not, and the stopper tied in with pink ribbon."

"That was very pretty."

"Yes; I was very much pleased at first but I had to keep the bottle out of sight after a while, though for people were all the time opening the jar under the impression that it contained preserved ginger or chow-chow, or something."

"That would have been unpleasant."

"Unpleasant—well I should smile—I mean I should weep. Why actually, one day while I was living in New York, I came home and found the servant girl polishing knives with the remains—just think of it."

"Terrible sir; terrible!"

"But what I was going to say, was this: About a year after my wife was kindled—I mean creamated—I was in New Orleans again, and I happend to meet the supritendent of the refractory ore—I should say the corpse-burning furnace—at a banquet, and he got so full that I had to see him home. On the way we stopped at a place or two for a steadier—you know how it is—and the result was that he got very communicative about his company—in fact gave the whole business away."

"Did, eh?"

"Yes, sir; he squarely owned up that he didn't burn the bodies at all. He said they just dropped 'em through a hole in the bottom of the furnace; took 'em out the back way at night, and sold 'em to the medical students."

"Gracious! And the ashes?"

"Mules ashes, sir; nothing but mule ashes! They would just cut up some old mule carcass, the superintendent said, pitch in enough to make a bad smell, and then sell the ashes to the grief-stricken relatives at $25 a bottle. Terrible cheeky, now, wasn't it?"

"And all this time you had—"

"Had been carrying that old jar of mule ashes all over the country. Just imagine how mean I felt."

"You then threw it away the?"

"Well, no" said the widower, as he winked a tear out of his left eye; "the more I studied over the matter the more I concluded that the mule ashes weren't so much out of the way after all. You see, poor Maria was an awful stubborn woman—t-r-e-m-e-n-d-o-u-s stubborn—and—yes, I thought mule ashes would do mighty near as well, and all things considered."

And heaving the resigned sigh of one who had succeeded in bracing up under great sorrow the anti-cremationist smiled softly, lit another cigar and walked out.

Has met with unparalleled success in the treatment of all

CHRONIC DISEASES!

OF THE

Throat, Lungs, Heart Stomach, Liver.

Head, nerves, kidneys, bladder, womb, and blood affections of the urinary organs, gravel, scrofula, rheumatism, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, dyspepsia, &c.

DR. PRICE'S REPUTATION!

Has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.

My practice, not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic Diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for yourselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. Visits made regularly.

BRIEFLETS.

—Fair nights at the armory.

—"That Boy" is to be shown up tonight.

—The telephonic line is to-day being stretched to Dr. Barrows' residence.

—The Stevens' company left to-day for Rockford where they appear this evening.

—The work of putting an iron roof on the new McLean woolen mill has begun, John Griffith being the contractor.

—To-morrow evening the Opera house will be occupied by Anthony, Ellis & Hathaway's combination of fun and music.

—R. T. Pember has delivered at H. B. DeLong's warehouse the first tobacco of the crop of '81, yet reported. It is excellent, too.

—The bill for attorneys' fees, which Smith & Emmons asked to be taxed up against the city as costs in the case of J. M. Smith vs. The City, have been cut down by the clerk of the court from $212 to $25.

—To-morrow night will be military night at the "Christmas Market." The Guards are to drill, and the Bower City Rifles have been invited to also be present, free admission being granted them, and a hearty welcome promised to each of them.

—George Russell, who was lodged in jail for not paying the judgment gained against him for refusing to pay his poll-tax, was released last evening, the city not providing for the necessary cost of boarding him, within the twenty-four hours prescribed by law.

—The Mutual Improvement club have secured Rev. J. L. Jones for to-morrow, Thursday, evening when he will repeat the lecture given at the opening of the session on "The Price of Ignorance." Many of our citizens have expressed a desire to hear this lecture, who were prevented from attending before on account of the inclemency of the weather. Those who were so fortunate as to hear this lecture, pronounce it Mr. Jones' best.

—There will be a varied entertainment given at the Opera house to-morrow evening by Anthony, Ellis & Hathaway's combined shows. Humpty Dumpty will make fun for all. There will be the trained elephant, the four funny goats, the dog circus, in fact a variety of attractions which promise much mirth, and there will also be some music which promises to be of more than usual merit. The prices are decidedly popular, and this "hall circus" will doubtless draw a crowd.

—About midnight Sunday night some fifteen feet of the dam on the east side of the open channel washed out, causing the water in the pond to fall away two feet. The part washed away consisted mostly of the loose stones lately put in, which were subject to the action of a powerful current as the gap was narrowed up. The lowering of water caused the paper mills to suspend work but they will not be long shut down, as the set back to the work of completing a thoroughly substantial dam is only temporary and the large quantities of stone being thrown in from the west side of the break are rapidly closing it and causing the water to steadily rise in the pond.—Beloit Free Press.

—A merry party from Brodhead were in the city to-day. They had cause to be merry, for the three gentlemen were to-day made Benedicts, and the three ladies brides. The party consisted of Mr. E. F. Ward and Miss Carney, now Mrs. Ward; Mr. Mel Carney and Miss Hamlet, now Mrs. Carney, both of these couples being married in Brodhead this morning. The other couple was T. Smith and Miss Wall, who were married after reaching this city. The sextette had a happy time with friends here, and from here Mr. and Mrs. Ward started on a trip to the North, while the others went to Chicago and St. Louis. The three bridegrooms are all well-to-do farmers living near Brodhead, and their brides are ladies who are also well known and highly esteemed in that vicinity. May much joy go with each of them.

WEDDING FESTIVITIES.

KING-WATSON.

The marriage of Mr. William T. King and Miss Dottie Watson, both of this city, was solemnized last evening at the residence of the bride, in the second ward, the Rev. M. G. Hodge, D. D., officiating The contracting parties were supported by Mr. Robert McLean, and Miss Luella King, and Mr. Walter Airis and Miss Hattie Calkins, the latter of Milwaukee. The bride was attired in a beautiful white Paris muslin and Spanish lace, with pearl ornaments. Miss Luella King wore a handsome India mull, swansdown trimming, pink blossoms, and pearl ornaments. Miss Hattie Calkins wore a pale pink silk crape liese overdress, Spanish laces, turquoise ornaments, and diamonds.

The ceremony took place at half past eight o'clock, and as the bridal party entered the parlor, where the services were read, Miss Ada Pond presided at the piano, and played the Wedding March The wedding was a very quiet affair, none but the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties being present, of whom the following is a list: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King, father and mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes, Colonel E. A. Calkins, and wife, Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherer, Mr. and Mrs J. A. Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff, George Scarcliff, Jr., and wife, Mrs. George Scarcliff, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McLean, Mrs. M. A. Armstrong, Chicago, Miss Hattie Calkins and Keyes Calkins, Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Colvin, Paul Colvin, Mr. James Sutherland, Mrs. F. Morris and daughter, Dr. G. H. McCausey and wife, Mrs. John Pitcher and daughter, Miss Kate Fifield, Miss Hattie M. Lappin, Miss May Patterson and cousin, Miss Patterson, of Chicago, Miss Minnie Doty, Mrs. A. G. Allen and daughter, Misses Ada and Etta Pond, Miss Minnie Prichard, Miss Lahlie Foster, Walter Airis, Robert McLean, Robert Bostwick, Bert Pulker, Herbert V. Allen, Fred Hastings, Charles Putnam.

Regrets were received from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crane and daughter Maud, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Butterfield, Horicon, Wisconsin, and Miss Ella B. Allen.

The presents were numerous and useful as well as ornamental, and among them were the following:

An elegant set of household furniture, from the bride's mother, Mrs. John Watson.

One majolica basket and two vases, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Butterfield, Horicon.

A bisque match receiver, Mrs. R. R. Buchanan, Chicago.

Card receiver, Miss Hattie M. Lappin.

China tea-set, Mr. and Mrs. George Scarcliff, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McLean, and Mr. and Mrs. George Scarcliff, Jr.

Pair of lamp mats, Miss Minnie Prichard.

One argand lamp, with hand-painted stand, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Colvin.

Pair of fancy holly wood easels, hand-painted, Miss Kate R. Fifield.

A plush and gilt clock, of novel and beautiful design, Robert McLean, Walter Airis, and Bert Pulker.

Butter dish, Miss Cora Sutherland.

Half dozen solid silver teaspoons, Miss Josie E. Van Meenen, Chicago.

Silver card basket, Mr. M. A. Armstrong, Chicago.

Water pitcher and six crackled glasses, Colonel E. A. Calkins and family, Milwaukee.

One globe of wax pond lilies, Miss Ada L. Pond.

Silver and cut glass creamer and sugar bowl, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff.

Silver card receiver with cut glass boquet holder, Charles Putnam, Fred Hastings, and Robert Bostwick.

A fine pair of engravings, framed, Mr. and Mrs. Orion Sutherland.

Silver cake basket and decorated stand, Mr. and Mrs. Clint. H. Wilcox.

One silver match box, little Birdie Smith.

One glass cake stand, Mrs. John Pitcher.

Glass fruit dish, Miss Anna Pitcher.

Half dozen silver nut picks, Herbert V. and Hattie R. Allen.

Silver boquet-holder, Miss May Patterson.

Satin tidy, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dresser.

One table scarf, Miss Kittie Williams.

One dozen china decorated fruit plates, with handsome case, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherer.

Marble-top table, Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes.

Camp chair, Miss Lahlie Foster.

After the ceremony the bride and groom received the cordial congratulations of their friends, when the superb wedding feast was served. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Watson, old residents of this city, and the groom is a young man well known in the society circles of Janesville. There are a great many who will wish this happy pair a life full of pleasure and substantial prosperity.

PASSION'S SLAVE.

Last evening there was a fair sized audience gathered at the Opera house to greet John A. Stevens and company, in his own play of the above title. The audience, though not large in numbers, was still larger than was anticipated considering the other attractions of the evening, and the fact that the play, star and support are comparatively unknown here. There was not in the entertainment a meeting of the high expectations raised by the praise it claims to have received elsewhere. The play itself is a comedy drama in which the comedy is of but fair order and the plot is not over strong. John A. Stevens rather disappointed the audience, and though he did some very commendable work, yet it was far below what was expected of him. The company is one of average ability. Miss Lottie Church, the leading support deserves special mention for her vivacious manners, but with her as with most of the others there was too much overacting, and the fun-making was too forced. The chief cause of the disappointment was due to the play, the weak points in which the company evidently sought to strengthen leading them into many strained attempts to amuse and thrill the audience, at times when there was little in the lines or in the situations to sustain them. Mr. Stevens, Miss Church and the company would doubtless appear to much greater advantage in Mr. Steven's old and successful drama "Unknown," and the promise is made that later in the season that will be given by them here.

MEETING OF CONGRESS.

The Sunday School Congress announced to be held here, opened in the First Methodist church this morning. The attendance was quite good, there being many from outside the city, and the numbers constantly receiving additions by new arrivals. Rev. Dr. Vincent did not arrive in time to take his promised part in the forenoon proceedings, and the programme was therefore changed somewhat.

Rev. W. T. Millar conducted the opening devotional exercises which lasted about half an hour, several of those present taking part. Owing to the absence of Rev. E. G. Updike, the discussion of the theme "True Aim of the Sunday School," was opened by Rev. Henry Colman, D. D., of Milwaukee, whose address was followed by brief and interesting ones from others.

Rev. Dr. Huntley, who was present, gave a very earnest address in behalf of Lawrence University, of which he is the president. He was closely listened to as he always is.

Rev. A. H. Gillet gave a very interesting address on "Power in Teaching, which was full of truths clearly and pleasingly set forth.

This afternoon other topics are being discussed, and the proceedings will conclude to-morrow noon.

FAIR FANCIES.

Successful Opening of the Showing of Skill and Beauty Prepared by the Ladies of Christ Church.

Last evening the "Christmas Market" as it has been christened, was successfully opened at the armory of the Janesville Guards. The ladies of Christ Church, for whose financial benefit the enterprise has been inaugurated, have worked diligently and skillfully for weeks and even months, bent upon success, and their labor promises much reward. How hard they have toiled none can realize, save those upon whom has fallen a due share of the burden of responsibility, together with the throbbing head and tired fingers, which prove the necessary accompaniment of planning and executing.

The roomy armory looked at its best last evening. The decorations which adorned its opening night when the Guards dedicated it, were still in places, and much added thereto. As one entered it presented a dazzling, fete-day appearance. The hall was filled with groups of visitors, young and old, admiring the wonderful exhibits presented in the several attractively arranged and gaily decorated booths, while ladies in unique costumes appeared on every hand, ready to wait upon customers, to explain articles, tell prices, sell tickets in various raffles, and serve refreshments.

One booth was filled with choice articles of glassware, stationery, mantel and boudoir ornaments. Another was arranged with quilts, comfortables, and other articles bespeaking an easy victory over Jack Frost. Another contained all sorts of toys and trinkets for the little folk. Still another had a brilliant display of needlework, and many charming novelties for beautifying the home, too numerous to even list, much less describe as they merit. One booth is largely devoted to dolls, of which the array is wonderful indeed, presenting the appearance of a fairy kingdom. In front of another booth stood the wheel of fortune, and within was a brilliant display of quaint and useful articles. In another place stood a booth trimmed very ingeniously and attractively with the "Janesville Gazette," and here were displayed a surprisingly varied and pleasing assortment of aprons. In one corner of the hall was a cosy, attractive "Yankee Kitchen," where refreshments were served most bountifully and temptingly. In the center of the great room was a very handsome circular booth, containing an endless variety of articles to tempt the purse and excite merited praise.

Thoroughgood's band enlivened the scene with excellent music. All seemed happy, and on every side were heard words of praise for the great enterprise and excellent taste shown in the gathering, making, and arrangeing of exhibits.

One feature is especially commendable. The prices placed on the articles were not such inflation prices as generally rule in such a market. The ladies have marked the goods where their cheapness as well as beauty commends them to the purchaser.

Mrs. Judd's painting, "Mater Dolorosa," was greatly admired. It was hung in excellent light, and fairly inspired any one who loved beauty and art.

The wonderful afghan also attracted attention as hung upon the wall, it being well worth the $75 it is expected to bring into the treasury.

A charming doll, dressed exquisitely by Miss Lahlie Foster, the blue silk dress hand-painted by Miss May Baldwin, also attracted much praise.

A very pretty winter scene painted by Miss Hattie Lappin adorned the central booth.

In fact there are so many things of beauty to catch the eye and exact the praise, that the visitor could not but be dazzled by the brilliant showing, and a leisurely careful inspection is necessary to a true idea of the real merits of the market.

McKey & Bro., have contributed an elegant gold watch and chain which is to be given to the lady receiving the largest number of votes at ten cents each.

The refreshment booth will present an entire change of bill-of-fare every day.

The barrel of flour donated by Barnes & Hodson is to be given away to-night, $25 worth of tickets having been sold.

The autograph quilt was last night won by Mrs. E. P. Doty.

An elegant bed spread is to be disposed of this evening, all the tickets having been sold.

The following is the programme of the entertainment this evening:

Piano solo, Mrs. J. D. King.
Recitation, Miss M. Holdredge.
Piano duet, Mrs. H. A. Doty and Miss Jessie Crosby.
Only a boy, (recitation), Lattie Willie.

Feeble Ladies.

Those languid, tiresome sensations, causing you to feel scarcely able to be on your feet; that constant drain that is taking from your system all its elasticity, driving the bloom from your cheeks; that continual strain upon your vital forces, rendering you irritable and fretful; can easily be removed by the use of that marvelous remedy, Hop Bitters. Irregularities and obstructions of your system are relieved at once, while the special cause of periodical pain is permanently removed. Will you heed this?

Balm in Gilead.

There is a balm in Gilead to heal each gaping wound;
In THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL, the remedy is found.
For internal and outward use, you freely may apply it.
It only costs a trifle, 'tis worth its weight in gold,
And by every dealer in the land this remedy is sold.

Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

STEP up to a citizen and tell him that his father and grandmother were lunatics, and see how quickly he'll crook his elbow. Yet, let that citizen shoot somebody, and he'll bless you if you'll help him prove that all his ancestors were not only crazy, but the biggest fools in the neighborhood.
